POTTER'S FIELD TO BE MADE A SIGHTLY PLACE

Committee Began Work of Cleaning It Of Its Thick Growth of Weeds, Etc., and Rubbish.

At a meeting of the Public Buildings Committee, into whose hands the matter of transforming the potter's fields north of the cemetery was left at the last meeting of Council, and the Company's attorney, Judge C. D. Newell, an agreement was reached that will ultimately be the means of making this spot a decent looking place instead of a place whose only use it seemed was the dumping of old waste paper and pasteboard boxes people took their flowers in when visiting Maysville's beautiful city of the dead.

The field is the property of the city, and under the supervision of the committee work was begun today of cleaning the place of the thick growth of weeds and grass and of the rubbish accumulation of years.

After the cleaning has been thorough the sunken graves and low places will be filled and leveled and a fence built. Then it will be turned over to the Cemetery Company to be cared for by its sexton.

It will be sown in blue grass and kept as sightly as the cemetery property.

There are a number of graves that have been almost obliterated.

The Cemetery Company will be allowed a sum of money each year for the up-keep of this place and it will be unlawful for any one to throw any rubbish on that sacred spot.

KILLING AT HARRIS

(Vanceburg Sun)

Wednesday morning at Harris, Dan Morgan is reported to have shot Marion Dyer of the same place with a shot gun, the charge taking effect in the side. The same evening, as we go to press, Dyer is reported to have died. From the best reports we learn that Dyer was under contract to paint the Odd Fellows Hall there and was preparing to do so and stepped to a horse shed at one side of the lot to get several boards to build a scaffold when Mr. Morgan, who it is said, claims the land on which the horse stood, fired with a shot gun with the above results. Mr. Morgan lives close to where the shooting occurred. Sheriff Bertram left late Wednesday in an auto to place Morgan under arrest.

PARIS CHEERS THE ENTRANCE OF THE YANKS IN SEDAN

The Conviction Is General That Whether Germany Signs Article of Capitulation or Not She Is Crippled.

Paris, November 8—One hundred days ago the Germans were 5 miles from Paris. Today they are begging peace.

After many occasions when hope has been deferred and of bitter disappointment, France knows at last that triumph has come and gives rein to its unreserved joy. The conviction is universal that whether the German delegation signs articles of capitulation or not Germany is beaten.

The Allied advance, the exploit of the Americans in entering Sedan, a name which thrills every French heart shows clearly that continuation of hostilities by Germany can lead only to a military debacle in the near future.

This feeling is confirmed by news received from reliable quarters that Germany's internal affairs are drifting toward chaos.

Last night the people crowded around the newspaper bulletins boards until a late hour, undiscouraged by the rain. When the news of Sedan was flashed there was an outburst of cheers. Joy and enthusiasm increased as the day waned. Groups sang the "Marseillaise," the "Sambre et Meuse" and other patriotic songs. Cafes were thronged. Champagne, which every Frenchman promised himself long ago sparked in glasses. The people drank to eternal France, the regained provinces, to the Allies to Premier Clemenceau and Marshal Foch.

French Are Fighting Along Entire Front

Paris, November 8—French troops resumed their advance along the whole front this morning. The War Office today reports that French units have reached the railway junction of Liart, 20 miles north of Hethel. On the right, where the French line joins the American, the French early today captured Singly, less than eight miles south of Zieres, and Frenes, one mile west of Sedan. Fifteen hundred prisoners and much material were captured yesterday.

HERE'S YOUR CHANCE—A CALL FOR TOYS

The authorities at the emergency hospital have sent out a call to the generous people of Maysville that have any toys they would like to dispose of to a worthy cause to please send them to the hospital as soon as possible, as the convalescent children there must be amused and the toys would be the very thing for these little folks. Let every one see if they can't find some little or big thing for these little sufferers and please hurry them up to the hospital.

RUN OVER BY AUTO

About 4 o'clock this afternoon, Master George Redden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fulton Redden was run over by an automobile, on East Second street near the Buick Company Garage. It is thought the little fellow is not seriously injured.

HOW'S THIS FOR NERVE!

"Why did you ring the fire bell today? We pay for the news for this town and we will tell you when to ring the fire bell." Who does that sound like? Well we know "Dot" is getting like the rest of that bunch, very self-conceited.

Mrs. Martha Guy, wife of Samuel Guy, of near Germantown, died at her home after an illness of several months. She is survived by her husband and two sons, Ira and Charles Guy. Mrs. Anna Jolly of this city attended the funeral.

Rev. Joseph A. Bretz, formerly of near Augusta, who has been located at Sharon, Oklahoma, as pastor of a Methodist Church, has been made pastor of Trinity M. E. Church at Covington.

State Superintendent of Schools V. O. Gilbert has wired all county superintendents to take up at once with the county health authorities the subject of permitting schools to reopen.

OFFICIALS PUZZLED OVER LACK OF NEWS FROM THE FRONT

It Is Thought the Silence on the Armistice Is Linked With the Great Upheaval Now On In Germany.

Washington, November 8—Authorities here today believed that the silence of European capitals on the armistice may be due to the revolutionary movements in Germany, which will require the most drastic action to suppress.

It was pointed out that Germany might well have asked as one consideration of signing armistice terms the privilege of announcing her action to her own people before the news was sent officially throughout the world.

This course, it was suggested, would give her an opportunity to take adequate steps for suppressing a revolt in Germany before her capitulation became known to the people.

FEAR OUTBREAK OF BOLSHEVISM

It has been the openly expressed in allied quarters here for some days that Bolshevism might break out in Germany—a development which authorities here say is little more to be desired than Hohenzollernism.

Lord Milner, the British war minister, recently warned against the possibility of revolt in Germany, and urged every caution in handling the situation to prevent such an eventuality, which might carry on into France and even Great Britain.

Great Confusion in Official Minds

There is the greatest confusion in official minds here as to just what has transpired on the other side.

Wednesday night the German armistice delegates were reported to have arrived at Foch's headquarters. That group was said to include Admiral Von Hintze, among others.

Unofficial reports here today mention another group, apparently separate from the first, for Von Dintze is not named in it as having arrived at Foch's headquarters.

London, November 8—The cities of Bremen, Schwerin and Tilsit joined in the German revolution, according to a Copenhagen dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company. Dr. Karl Liebknecht is said to have arranged for the formation of a soldiers' council at Bremen.

The Great German maritime port of Hamburg is completely in the hands of the revolutionists, according to reports from Hamburg newspapers, printed by the Cologne paper. The red flag is flying on all the ships in the harbor.

The headquarters of the commander of the port has been occupied by the Soldiers' council after exciting occurrences in which machine guns were used.

All kinds of excesses took place in the neighboring city of Altona. The port commander there agreed to all the demands submitted by the soldiers' council.

Prince Henry of Prussia, brother of Emperor William, left Kiel, on Wednesday in an automobile flying a red flag, the Schleswig Volks Zeitung states. He was pursued by Marines, who fired a dozen shots at him, the newspaper adds.

The greater part of the German navy, with red flags hoisted and in possession of mutinous sailors, has left Kiel, according to a Copenhagen dispatch to the Telegraph.

Copenhagen also reports that the revolutionary flag has been hoisted at Warnemunde, at which place railroad communication has been stopped.

There are no guards on the German

CROWDER MAY SUSPEND THE LAST DRAFT

Advisors Expect Him to Advocate Withdrawal of November Call If Germans Accept Allies' Armistice Terms.

Washington, November 8—Provost Marshal General Crowder called into conference today the heads of all sections of his office to discuss possible suspension of the November draft calls, under which more than 300,000 men have been ordered to army camp.

While General Crowder would not discuss what recommendations he might make to the General Staff, it is known that his advisers will advocate withdrawal of the November call, at least if the Germans accept the American and Allied armistice terms before the movement to camps begins.

With 4,000,000 men already under arms overseas and at home, the feeling is growing that more may not be needed, even though it may be a long time before American forces can be recalled from France and some additional men sent over.

Joseph A. Manley, aged 65, died at his home at Mayslick Friday morning after a long illness of tuberculosis. The funeral will occur Monday morning at 11 o'clock at Shannon Church, Rev. W. J. Loos of Mayslick officiating. Burial at Shannon cemetery.

OUR POLICY

To support such measures as are unquestionably for the good of Mason County as an entire community, rather than such propositions as are in favor of the individual interest, or of one section as against another. And likewise to constantly and consistently oppose all things that are not for the good of the County as a whole.

POSTHUMOUS

It was amusing to read this paragraph from an editorial in the Washington Post of October 31, evidently part of the propaganda to offset the effect of the Hughes airplane report:

"Though the collapse of the aircraft program has been a source of keen disappointment to the American people, yet there is much consolation to be found in the announcement that the obstacles finally have been overcome and that the production of airplanes is now practically limited only by the transportation facilities."

On the front page of the same paper for that date we were told that the Kaiser would abdicate, if needed, and that Austria had asked Lansing to intercede for him. And we were promised 22,000 planes by July of this year! Poor old Post! Which for months supported the German cause, and now seeks to temper a report which condemns the Administration with which Germany is so astonishingly anxious to deal, to the exclusion of Our Allies. And, another thing: Why should airplane production be limited to transportation facilities?

WHOLE DAMBASSADORIAL FAMILY

The House diplomatic squad is now in Europe. It is headed by the Colonel, with Mr. Gordon Auchincloss, the Colonel's son-in-law, as chief assistant. They are fortified with armistice data collected by Dr. Samuel E. Mezes, the Colonel's brother-in-law. The delegation represents the American people. The President says so.

The President also declares, in addressing Germany, that the "Government of the United States cannot deal with any but veritable representatives of the German people." But are Col. House and his son-in-law, armed with data by his brother-in-law, "veritable representatives" of the American people. We think not. The American people have been utterly ignored in their selection. Yet Germany will be compelled to swallow such terms as they approve. In appealing to the German people to rise against their masters would it not be well first to show good faith at home? Mr. Wilson's international ethics will show improvement if he applies to himself the Biblical injunction concerning the mite and the beam.

FUDGE!

The Imperial Chancellor of Germany says:

"We are waging a war of self-defense... every imperialistic tendency, every tendency to world dominion, has been remote from our minds."

There is more of it, but why follow it.

To call a man a liar in print or orally is crude, vulgar, ruffianly. "Anyone can lose his temper and throw a man out of the window," said Mr. Van Bibber in the Richard Harding Davis story. "It is a much more difficult matter to keep one's temper and refrain from throwing a man out of the window."

We're quite equal to the achievement. We are not even greatly disposed to throw the Imperial Chancellor out of the window. What on earth does it matter what the Imperial Chancellor says. Who cares?

It is impossible to imagine any excuse for a blunder by the President or the military authorities with more than 100,000,000 amateur strategists near by, each of whom knows exactly what should be done under any combination of circumstances.—Indianapolis Star.

One minor symptom of frequent recurrence shows that the Germans are becoming better acquainted with our fighting men. Berlin official bulletins no longer find it necessary to refer to them as "North" Americans.—Chicago Post.

SALVATION ARMY MAN DESCRIBES RIOT IN RUSSIA

New York — Commissioner Henry William Mapp, who has arrived in this country from England after spending a year in Russia and who is going to France to take charge of the activities of the Salvation Army at the front, told of his Russian experiences at the headquarters of the organization.

"In the question of an armistice," said Commissioner Mapp, "persons must not forget that there is a war going on against Germany in Russia. The Bolsheviks really are only one-tenth of the nation; the other nine-tenths are for the allies. It is Germany that is keeping the Red guards fighting against the Russian people. Due to the fact that Germany refused to allow the German and Austrian prisoners over 150,000 of them, to cross the border into their own countries, there is a much larger force which the allies must contend with in Russia than the people realize."

Commissioner Mapp was asked if he had seen any of the atrocities of the Red guards. "Why, all the time," he answered. "Day and night there are murders, assassination, robberies, and rifling of homes, stores, and banks all about you. The Red guards hold up men and women and take the very clothes from their backs."

STARVED AMERICAN REFUSED FOOD WHEN HE ANSWERS HUN INSULT

Los Angeles, Cal.—Refused food because he used his fists on an insulting German prison officer in true American style, Aubrey Standing, one of the seven sons of Herbert Standing, noted Los Angeles film actor, died of starvation in Germany recently, according to a message received by the father from English government officials, in whose army the young man was fighting when captured.

The young man was one of four of Herbert Standing's sons who are fighting when captured.

The young man was one of four of Herbert Standing's sons who are fighting in the allied armies. One brother, Guy, was recently decorated with the Order of the British Empire for signal acts of bravery.

The letter received from English officials by Mr. Standing stated that Aubrey had been captured some months ago and was placed in the prison camp. It was while there that he struck the officer after he had been repeatedly insulted.

JUST EIGHTEEN, HE'S BEEN IN THE NAVY 3 TIMES

Great Lakes, Ill.—Although only several months over 18 years old, Jas. B. Dickson has been sworn into naval service three times. Seaman Dickson took his third oath at the Great Lakes recruiting office.

Dickson first joined the navy at Annapolis in June, 1916, being appointed to the Naval academy there. A year later he received a medical discharge.

Last January, after being entirely cured of his ailment, he enrolled in the Naval reserve force at Municipal pier and was attached to this station. Then he was discharged from the reserve force to enlist in the regular navy.

BARBERS GIVE FREE SHAVES WITH HAIRCUTS

Boston, Mass.—Persons who look in the windows of certain Lynn barber shops in the future may witness the novel sight of half a dozen or more patrons standing before the mirrors in the act of shaving themselves, for men are invited to remove their beards and self-service in notices posted in these establishments.

The tonsorial shop proprietors, none of whom are members of the Master Barbers' Association, agree to allow persons having a haircut in their establishments free use of razors or for scraping off their beards. The notices fail to stipulate whether soap, towel and face lotions will be furnished.

While the aforementioned barbers are putting the free-shaving offer to force, the members of the Master Barbers' association are making final arrangements for putting their new price schedule into effect Monday. It calls for fifty cents for hair cuts and twenty cents for shaves, while the prices now are thirty-five and fifteen cents, respectively.

EIGHT OFFICERS ESCAPE TURKISH PRISON CENTER

London—Eight British officers captured at Kut-el-Amara (in Mesopotamia in 1917), have reached England after thrilling adventures. The party escaped from the Turkish prison camp in the interior of Asia Minor. They journeyed seaward across the Taurus mountains.

Food supplies were short, but the party deemed it wiser mostly to travel by night. The sea was reached after a fortnight. A Turkish patrol boat was discovered in a creek, and the party took possession of it during the crew's absence.

Sailing towards Cyprus, and steering by the sun and stars, they reached the island when on the verge of starvation, having crossed 120 miles of open sea.

The letter received from English officials by Mr. Standing stated that Aubrey had been captured some months ago and was placed in the prison camp. It was while there that he struck the officer after he had been repeatedly insulted.

HIDDEN DANGERS

Nature Gives Timely Warnings That No Maysville Citizen Can Afford to Ignore.

DANGER SIGNAL NO. 1 comes from the kidney secretions. They will warn you when the kidneys are weak. Well kidneys excrete clear, amber fluid. Weak kidneys send out a thin, pale and foamy, or a thick, red, ill-smelling urine, full of sediment and irregular of passage.

DANGER SIGNAL NO. 2 comes from the back. Back pains, dull and heavy, or sharp and acute, suggest weak kidneys and warn you of the danger of dropsy, gravel and Bright's disease. In that case Doan's Kidney Pills have been endorsed by thousands. Here is a statement of a nearby resident:

Jas. M. Newton, Gum, St., Aberdeen, Ohio, says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills off and on for several years and have been greatly benefited. Whenever my back has been weak or when my kidneys have been too frequent in action, I have used a box or so of Doan's Kidney Pills, which I get at Wood & Son's Drug Store. They have always relieved me in a short time."

The above is not an isolated case.

Mr. Newton is only one of many in this vicinity who have gratefully doctored Doan's. If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for Doan's Kidney Pills, the same that Mr. Newton had. 60c all stores. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

WEATHER FORECASTS MAY SAVE CATTLE

Cattlemen in the West and Southwest may save thousands of dollars and many thousand pounds of meat during the winter season if they will watch weather forecasts, according to officials of the Weather Bureau. They should give attention not only to the regular forecasts but to the special daily forecasts issued by Weather Bureau stations in cities and towns of considerable size, during the winter in regard to minimum temperatures in regard to minimum temperatures expected to occur within a shipping radius of one day or two days of the station. In northwestern Texas last winter a number of herds of cattle, aggregating many thousand dollars in value, died from exposure to a destructive cold wave which had been forecast by the Weather Bureau and warnings of which had been disseminated through the threatened region.

TAKES JUST ONE SHOT

New York—J. J. Dancy, chief machinist's mate on a United States naval vessel in foreign waters, has written to his friends that he has cut two notches in the identification tag suspended around his neck and has hopes of adding another notch. Concerning one of those already cut he wrote:

"It was about 11 o'clock at night and the sea was very calm, when, much to our surprise, a big German submarine came up right beside us. It was so close that we dared not talk out loud or make any noise until we were ready for the big noise. It was dark, and I am sure he did not see us until we sent a little message we had been saving for him.

"The next two hours were very exciting ones, and the next day we had fish for dinner. All we had to do was to reach over the side and pick them up. They are easily stunned by an explosion, you know."

Now Making Operating Expenses.

The whole structure of the franchise relationship between electric railways and the various communities has broken down under the strain of the war. The rapid increase in the cost of all material, the extraordinary demands of labor made necessary by the rise in the cost of living, the alarming decrease in the purchasing power of the nickel, have brought the electric railways of this country face to face with bankruptcy.

Practically every other industry except public utilities, whose rates are regulated by law, has been able readily to adjust its methods of doing business to meet the war demands, and the radical increases in the cost of operations and manufacture have been promptly reflected in the selling price, and so passed on to the consumer.

In all other departments of our commercial and industrial life where the economic laws of supply and demand have been unhampered and allowed free play, the inevitable increase in the cost of production has been taken care of in the perfectly normal way of increased cost to the consumer.

It is only in those industries where the public has attempted to fix a just and fair price for service rendered and where the artificial standard has been substituted for the natural one, that we find this complete breakdown under war conditions.

Industry generally was never so prosperous, notwithstanding the increase in the cost of labor and material. The public utilities, and especially the electric railways, present practically the only exception to this rule of prosperity. They, on the contrary, are steadily being destroyed by the war.

A tabulation of 388 electric railways, representing over 63 per cent of the electric mileage of the United States, shows a falling off in income of 82 per cent. for the first six months of 1918 as compared with the corresponding period of last year. Many of the companies are facing an actual operating deficit in spite of the increase in gross receipts. The scale of wages established by the National War Labor Board in cases already decided, when applied to the industry generally, will add over $100,000,000 to its already greatly increased operating expenses.

As a consequence of the rapidly mounting costs of operation and the steadily declining net income, the financial standing of the electric railways has been seriously affected, and it is no longer possible to attract new capital for the efficient operation of the properties in the interest of the public.

These facts lead inevitably to the conclusion that the present relationship between the companies and the public, as evidenced by existing franchises with fixed rates of fare, is economically unsound; that the present system of regulating fares by franchises or commissions is admittedly not sufficiently responsive to violent and radical changes in operating conditions. Under the present system, before the company can justify an increase of its fare it must first show that for a longer or shorter period it has suffered loss under the existing fare, which loss cannot be compensated for by the new rate. In any other business, the prudent manager is able to provide against increases in cost by promptly advancing his selling price.

The electric railway must stagger along under the 5 cent fare for months until its credit is destroyed, its service impaired, its equipment deteriorated, and it has become obvious to the community that it is on the brink of destruction before its case has been sufficiently made out to justify an increase in its rate.

The declaration of war found the electric railways thoroughly unprepared for the problems thrust upon them. Without in any way lessening our efforts to win the war by supplying this essential service to the public, it would seem to be the part of wisdom for us to take up for serious consideration the problems of peace.

Of all the problems of re-adjustment which this Nation will have to meet and solve after the war, none will be more serious or more difficult than that of the electric railway industry. In the light of our experience as emphasized by war conditions, it is manifest that to insure the efficient operation of the electric railways of the country after the war, there must be a re-casting of the entire basis of the relationship existing between the electric railways and the communities they serve.

In many cases, electric railway franchises, which had come to be considered as valuable assets, in the light of recent experience have been proved to be liabilities. Already there is a growing recognition of this fact in different parts of the country, as evidenced by the "operation at cost" plans recently adopted in Boston, Chicago, and Cincinnati.

In the past, the sole interest of the community has been thought to be in the service rendered, but with a broader conception of the underlying problems involved there is a growing tendency to recognize a community of interest in the problems of profit and loss, as having a direct and immediate bearing upon the rate of fare.

Now, therefore, it is resolved by the American Electric Rail Association:

First: That it is the deliberate judgment of this Association, that, in the light of the experience of the industry during the war, the entire subject of the relationship between electric railway companies and the public should have, now and during the reconstruction period following the war, the most earnest consideration of the representatives of both the public and the companies.

Second: That among other things, a radical revision of electric railway local franchises should be made, if the industry is to continue to render efficient service to the public.

Third: That a committee be appointed by the President of the Association, whose duty it shall be to make a study of reconstruction problems, particularly those relating to local franchises, and report their recommendations at an early date.

WAR WORKERS NEAR RIOT AS 'FLU' TIES UP TRAINS

Lancaster, Pa.—There were riotous scenes here today when hundreds of munition workers discovered there were no trains to take them to Coatesville.

Because of the state health department's Spanish influenza quarantining order, no trains arrived in the city. The munitions workers jammed the station, protesting against being unable to get transportation.

The city is defiant at the quarantine order. The traction company, disregarding it, hauled 1,000 persons in and out of town. The chamber of commerce is making preparations to fight the order.

BERMUDA GRASS GOOD FEED AND A TROUBLESOME WEED

Makes Good Sod and Pasture But Is Menace in Cultivating Crops—How to Eradicate It.

Washington, D. C.—Bermuda grass is one of the most valuable as well as the most troublesome grasses of the Southern States, according to Farmers' Bulletin 945, recently issued by the United States Department of Agriculture. This vigorous growing perennial spreads rapidly, making a thick sod which is well suited for pastures and lawns. The same characteristics that make it so valuable also render it one of the principal weeds the eradication of which is essential to the successful growing of intertillled crops. The plant has certain natural weaknesses, such as its inability to withstand shade and susceptibility of the rootstocks to winterkilling, which can easily be made use of in its eradication, according to the bulletin.

The most widely practiced and successful control measures, especially in the Southwestern States, is a combined attack upon these two weak points by alternating summer shade crops, such as velvet beans and cowpeas, with intertillled crops, such as corn and cotton, keeping the soil occupied with growing oats or rye, with or without vetch, during the winter.

Hogs are also useful in eradicating this grass. They are fond of the rootstocks, and they will be aided greatly in the good work if the land is first plowed. A good system is to graze the land an entire season, continue the grazing the following season until midsummer, then plow shallow to expose the rootstocks to the drying action of the sun and persistent rootkilling of the hogs.

Bermuda grass may be winterkilled by exposing the rootstock system to freezing, but this method of effective only in the northern part of the Bermuda grass area, as killing frosts do not ordinarily occur in the central and southern parts. In small areas, such as gardens, the rootstocks may be gathered, after the land has been plowed, with a rake or fork and burned. Where only small patches are infested they may be covered with heavy paper, preferably roofing paper, which should be weighted down. This so completely shades the plants that in about two months they will be killed.

Bermuda grass was at one time looked upon solely as a pest, but in view of the fact that it is exceedingly valuable for pasture, hay, and lawn purposes, the plant has been widely utilized throughout the cotton belt and its value is far in excess of the damage which it causes.

LATIN-AMERICAN DEMAND FOR AMERICAN STEEL

Latin-American concerns wishing to specify American structural steel for building and railway purposes can now do so without difficulty by referring to pamphlets in Spanish and English just issued by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Department of Commerce. These pamphlets are intended to facilitate sales of such materials in Latin countries, and are published in response to numerous requests from those countries.

The text defines with scientific accuracy the general accepted American standards, as adopted by the American Society for Testing Materials, and the publication of the series has been made possible by the cooperation of the American Society of Civil Engineers, and the Bureau of Standards and Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, of the Department of Commerce.

The five pamphlets announced today, are "Standard Specifications for Buildings," Industrial Standards No. 9; "Standard Specifications for Carbon Steel Bars for Railway Springs," Industrial Standards No. 10; "Standard Specifications for Quenched and Tempered Carbon-Steel Axles, Shafts, and Other Forgings for Locomotives and Cars," Industrial Standard No. 12; and "Standard Specifications for Carbon Steel Forgings for Locomotives," Industrial Standards No. 13. These can be purchased at five cents a copy from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C., or from any of the district or cooperative offices of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce. Other numbers of the series will follow.

"We are been going with lightning speed on the rocks of socialism and only this war has saved us. Our boys will come back home from France and they will run the country when they return. They will favor a strong government and not socialism."

Frank T. Post was given a demonstration at the luncheon of the chamber of commerce in Spokane, Wash., at the conclusion of his address on the constitution of the United States in which he made the foregoing statement on the trend of political affairs in this country before the war. The address was in observance of the one hundred and thirty-first anniversary of the adoption of the federal constitution. Sons of the American Revolution were present in a body.

Mr. Post reviewed the historical events leading up to the drafting and adoption of the federal constitution on September 17, 1787, and made the statement that the constitution would have been defeated at the time if it had been left to the vote of the people.

Despite the opposition at the time the speaker said the constitution had been equal to every exigency and was more potent today than it was 100 years ago.

SOLDIER LETTERS

Mr. Charles Workman is in receipt of the following letter from his brother-in-law:

October 9, 1918.

Dear Brother:

Just a few lines to let you know that I am getting along all o.k. I was slightly wounded in the left thigh in the recent big fight of which you have probably been reading of in the papers. Was hit by shrapnel at six in the morning and continued the fight till noon when my Lieutenant wouldn't let me go any further. I think I done my bit but although I didn't get to kill any of the d— Germans, but I took a lot of prisoners. They shoot at you with a machine gun until you locate them and then they throw up their hands and holler Kamerad. If I ever get at them again they won't holler Kamerad but once. What follows is hard to guess. Tell sister not to worry about me as I am not hurt bad. I am able to walk a little now and will be out soon.

With love to all,

WILLIAM.

STUDIED PLANT AND BIRD LIFE AS GUNS ROARED

While the guns are thundering Harry Gray, Company A, Tenth engineers of the Forestry division, who was formerly with the park department in Cincinnati, has had the time to study the bird and plant life close up to the lines. Of this he writes interestingly to John E. Bruce of the Cincinnati park commission. In part his letter is as follows:

"My work has carried me to all parts of this country, quite like home and about the only way one can tell that a great war is going on, is by the scarcity of men. Then again one will visit places where intense excitement reigns throughout the day and night. The people here seem very contented and are placing great trust in our American boys, and I feel that they are justified in doing so.

"The forests are very beautiful. What really interests me mostly are the ferns and the heavy undergrowth of hardwoods. This undergrowth makes a fine home for the birds and wild animals. Close to a large town, which is the headquarters for the Eighty-third Ohio division, there are thousands of Cincinnati boys. So far, I have been able to locate few, but unfortunately I did not know them. They came from Camp Sherman."

ALASKA EXPECTS TO FURNISH ITS SHARE OF WHEAT

Fairbanks, Alaska—Siberian wheat grown in Alaska may soon be milled in Fairbanks. Thomas Riggs, Jr., governor of Alaska, recently conferred with the officials of the United States agricultural experiment station here regarding the establishment of a mill to grind the crops of Siberian wheat the interior of Alaska is expected to yield.

Two hundred and fifty bushels of Siberian wheat from the Fairbanks region were sent to the United States a short time ago for a test run in a flour mill. A definite conclusion regarding the mill will be based on the outcome of the tests. If the wheat meets the expectation held regarding the mill will be built and Alaska farmers will plant Siberian wheat extensively next year.

Siberian wheat matures in the comparatively brief period of about four months from the time the seed is put into the ground. This quick growth makes the wheat adaptable to the Alaska short summers. According to reports from Siberia, according to reports from Siberia, the home of the Siberian wheat, it mills into good flour.

ITALIAN JOETS, HEROES OF WAR, EACH LOSES EYE

Rome—Gabriele D'Annunzio and Sem Benelli, Italy's two most famous modern poets and dramatists, each has lost the sight of one eye in the war.

A literary rivalry that existed between the two men before the war was carried by both into the field of patriotic endeavor. Fate has seen to it that neither has surpassed the other in personal injuries and sacrifices.

Although both were beyond military age, D'Annunzio being over 50 when the war broke out, both volunteered for active service. D'Annunzio, who several years before the war had had a trial flight in an airplane with Glenn Curtiss, chose aviation, while Benelli chose the navy.

D'Annunzio received his injury to the eye in a violent landing of his airplane, the force of the shock all but driving the eyeball from the socket.

Benelli received his injuries while abroad an Italian torpedo boat that was bombarding Pola.

D'Annunzio has been known in the United States for years. Benelli's best known work in America, perhaps, is his poetical drama "La Cena delle Beffe."

Any Information Will Be Gladly Received By Chief of Police Ort.

Chief of Police Harry A. Ort is in receipt of the following letters from Louisville, and any information relative thereto will be promptly handled by the worthy Chief to the authorities asking for same:

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 2, 1918.
City Mission, Maysville, Ky.

Citizens received the enclosed letter from the Associated Charities of Cincinnati.

May we ask that you make an effort to get the desired information, and let us hear from you at your earliest convenience?

Very truly yours,
The Associated Charities,

Associated Charities,

Louisville, Ky.

Citizens:
We wish to make certain inquiries in Maysville, Ky. Would it be possible for you to forward the enclosed copy of this letter to the organization or persons in Maysville, who can handle our case.

We have lately become interested in Mrs. Amanda Houston, a widow, over 60 years of age. Mrs. Houston has a number of relatives living in Cincinnati, none of whom, however, are able to give her any considerable assistance. One of her sons, Raymond, who has done more for her than anyone except her daughter, died last week of influenza, without leaving a will. His estate, amounting to about $4,000.00, goes to his wife, who does not seem to be especially fond of her mother-in-law, or to have any intention of helping her. Mrs. Houston's daughter, Mrs. Chester White, was married about six months ago, to a man who is not at present supporting her, and she cannot now do anything for her mother.

Mrs. Houston has a second son, named Clifford, from whom she has not heard for sometime. He was last living at 118 West Market street, Akron, Ohio. Mrs. Houston wired him at that address, after his brother's death, but received word that he was no longer living there.

Mr. Clifford Houston married a woman named Ellen Rye, from Maysville, Ky. She has relatives in Maysville, by the name of Rye, and also one by the name of Jack Thomas. These are the only names which Mrs. Houston was able to give us. We have thought that it might be possible to locate Mr. Clifford Houston, through his wife's relatives.

Mrs. Houston wished him to know of his brother's death. We, ourselves,

PERHING'S NAME MENTIONED FOR THE PRESIDENCY

The Louisville Courier-Journal
"Looks Toward France as the Place Whence One of the Candidates Will Come."

Yesterday's Louisville Courier-Journal contained the following editorial on the late election results and takes a step in advance on the Presidential selection of candidates for 1920:

"That the Democrats, despite their numerical minority in this Republican country, were able to make so close a fight in the fatal off-year of national politics, testifies to the remarkable hold of the President upon the confidence of the people. With him as its leader the Democratic party has been able to rule the affairs of government for the past six years, but until the nomination of Mr. Wilson its modern history was a succession of defeats."

"The Republicans, in the face of the President's appeal for a majority in Congress, were able to accomplish what they did at the elections shows the eternal fealty of millions of Americans to the party name that is reminiscent of Lincoln, Grant and McKinley. The strength of the popular belief in its economic policies is also manifest, as the voters of America are much interested in the type of business legislation that will follow the war. Those who have several times in the past pronounced elections upon the Republican party must now realize that it is returning to its old vigor and strength and that the year 1920 will probably witness such a presidential struggle as the nation has not seen before."

"Talk of candidates this far in advance is pleasant gossip merely, but one looks toward France as the place whence one of these candidates will come. Perhaps in the headquarters of the Commander-in-Chief of the American Expeditionary Force is to-day the nominee of one of the great parties in 1920. Zachary Taylor's progress from Buena Vista to the White House is a token of what America offers her heroes in the field, and in the same fashion Ulysses S. Grant proceeded from Appomattox to Washington. Gen. Pershing may find his gradus honorum the same, and that his name will loom large in the presidential gossip of 1920 is a foregone conclusion."

MRS. FANNIE McDANIEL DIED TODAY

Mrs. Fannie McDaniel, who was found in her room several days ago totally paralyzed, died this morning, having never completely rallied from the fatal stroke. She was a native of this city and was long a member of the Third Street M. E. Church. The funeral will occur Sunday afternoon at 2:30 from her late home, services at the grave by Rev. Peters, pastor of the Third Street M. E. Church and burial in the Maysville cemetery.

Mr. George W. Crowell, who has been ill at his home on East Second street for several days is now able to get around the house and his continued improvement is gratifying news to his many friends.

The official vote of Governor Stanley in Mason county, as canvassed by the Commissioners, gives him a majority of 431 and Congressman Fields 450.

feel that in all probability, if Mr. Houston knew of his mother's condition, he would be eager to help her.

Thanking you in advance for your co-operation, we remain,

FIRST SALE OF SHORT HORN CATTLE A SUCCESS

Large Crowd of Buyers From Surrounding Territory Present. Good Prices Prevailed.

A great throng of men and women gathered at the Home Warehouse this afternoon to witness the first sale of Short Horn Cattle by the Maysville District Short Horn Breeders' Association comprising breeders from Adams, Brown, Lewis and Mason counties. Mr. W. H. Holten of Trinity, Ky., was sales manager and Mr. Francis McIntyre, secretary.

An attractive lot of cattle, carefully selected and suitable for all purposes, were sold. In putting on this sale it is the intention of the management to make it the first of a series of offerings and they have spared no efforts, having in mind its success, to have a lot of cattle that are equal to the best offered.

Among the list of consignors we find the names of such prominent breeders as Messrs. Shanklin & Burns of Johnson Junction, W. C. Pickrell, Russellville, Ohio, Bare Bros., and Strabry, Sardinia, Ohio, Holton Cattle Co., Ripley, Ohio, C. R. Roush, Manchester, O., H. C. Hamilton, Aberdeen, O., James Blair, Elizaville, C. D. Asbury, Mt. Oliver, and Messrs. Reed, Anderson, McIntyre, Newell, James and Mark Branion and Mrs. Frances Calvert of Maysville, Ky.

Mr. S. F. Reed called the gathering together and explained the purpose of the sale, commented upon the management of the Home Warehouse and urged that the breeding of high grade cattle, such as the Short Horn breed, be continued. Mr. Reed has been an exponent of the raising of fine high grade cattle for quite a while and has demonstrated his interest in advancing the cattle interests of this community by his activity in making the local stock sales a success.

Mr. Reed then introduced Mr. F. W. Harting, Secretary of the American Short Horn Breeders' Association who told of the wonderful work being done by that Association in furthering the interests of these high grade cattle, stating that the Association had grown from a very small organization a few years ago until at the present time its business aggregates the annual sum of $250,000 which is received as registration and other fees. He stated that this amount of money was being turned back into the Association for development purposes. They have done a great work along this line, having at present six district representatives scattered through the United States, whose business it is to cooperate with such organizations as the local one and individuals interested in bettering their grade of stock and market.

Mr. William Johnson, representing the Short Horn World magazine, was then introduced and though being short of stature he proved to be a big man capable of sending home to his audience truths relating to the development of the Short Horn business. He said he could recall a few years back when Kentucky was recognized as the most prominent Short Horn cattle state in the Union, and he was glad to learn of the present increased interest in high grade stock raising.

Mr. Reed then introduced the auctioneers for the day: Mr. J. J. Yerian, London, Ohio; Earl Gartin, Greenburgh, Ind.; Col. Hatfield of Ohio, and Hensley Hawkins of Maysville.

When the sale opened there were noticed amongst the bidders some of the largest buyers of high grade cattle in some ten adjoining counties. The first calf brought $4040, being purchased by Mr. C. W. Siraby of Sardinia, Ohio; the second by J. W. Knox of West Union, Ohio, brought $470 and third also by Mr. Knox for $975.

Stanley Biegble, aged 3, died at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Biegble, on East Front street, Fifth Ward, after a brief illness of pneumonia. The remains will be buried Saturday afternoon. His brother, Edward, aged 8, is also critically ill with pneumonia.

Ida Farrow, aged 12, died at her home on West Front street this morning of pneumonia.
